FAQ's

How much does it cost to be an Ambassador?

NOTHING!

Can anyone be an Ambassador?

Yes, you do not need to be a coach or a student. All we ask is that you have a love of coaching and what it can do for people and are very happy with Noble Manhattan Coaching and the way we train Life and Business coaches.

How do I become an Ambassador?

Simply contact our Head office and speak to Richard.

What do I have to do?

Simply refer people to the customer care team (email Emma on emma@noble-manhattan.com or call on 0800 1910100), they will then do all the work involved in sending out information packs, following up and inviting to Introduction to Coaching events.

They will also keep you aware of the progress.

What if I do nothing or very little?

All that would happen is that instead of getting the higher referral fees that ambassadors get you would get the lower levels that Referrer's get (About half)

What do I get paid?

A referral fee for every person who enrolls on any of our courses.

See referral fee table

Are there any other benefits?

Yes, quite unashamedly we show favouritism to all of our Ambassadors.

We take the attitude that we will totally support those who support us.

What is the difference between an Ambassador and a Referrer?

An Ambassador is someone who is a real advocate for coaching and for Noble Manhattan, and as such is prepared to put in extra effort on a regular basis to further the concept of Quality and caring training.

Do I have to be a Coach to be an Ambassador?

NO

Do I have to have been trained by Noble Manhattan?

NO

So, anyone can be an Ambassador?

YES, as long as they are a believer in Coaching and are happy with Noble Manhattan's ethos

When do you pay me?

The end of the month following the month the new student enrolls.

So if a student enrolled in Oct you would be paid at the end of November.
